My dear friend

Altho' this is my sixth letter, I must send you a few lines, to return thanks with you at the great improvement in Miss Rossner, from her very serious illness, as you write in yours of the 7th, which must have made you very anxious, from the severe loss she would have been to you. I have indeed been made happy to day, (as I too was much distressed about Miss R) from letters I received from Col J, enclosing one [from] Miss Bowman, of the great improvement in the invalid; the Col's was the 16th, Miss B's 15th, & Aurola G's the 15th, all rejoicing for the loved patient. Col writes in raptures of the Chapel, & Art building, so far as progressed, and thinks both will be very handsome when completed: of the J.L.H. he says it is the admiration of everyone. I am sure you will have your heating arrangements completed, before they are really required; there has been, & is still, much sickness here, we have had a snow storm but only lasted a few days. I am happy to know dear Willie is 'quite well again,' but why! "are Mrs D, & yrself well as a matter of course." Mr C, returned on the 14th, in everyway benefited by his trip to Bermuda, & enjoyed fully everything he saw, and has much to tell you, & said, there was no one he would rather have had with him than yrself, & do hope it may yet be, as now, Mr C, knows where to go, & what to see. If it pleases God we expect to leave here Saturday the 24th for New York, where we will remain no longer than is necessary. Please give my love to Mrs D, & your dear boys, with Mr C's warmest greetings & to yrself, from sin^{lv}-your friend,—

Jo. L Newcomb.

I have directed this letter
just as I saw it in one of the New Orleans papers.
